

Dissolved air flotation unit

Micro air bubbles are formed on or adhere to suspended solids and force them upwards forming a floating layer that is removed by a scraper mechanism.

